About the Amana Institute and the Summit

On November 29, roughly 150 young people, alongside their parents and leaders from Muslim organizations across the Greater Toronto Area, will spend a full day building leadership skills grounded in Islamic leadership principles, character, courage, and contribution. This is the founding event of the Amana Institute — a new leadership development organization for the Muslim community in Canada, built on a simple observation: the GTA's Muslim population is among the fastest-growing in the region, young, and professionally ambitious, yet structured leadership development for Muslim youth, professionals, and the organizations they lead is largely absent from the current landscape. This Summit is where Amana Institute begins closing that gap.

Amana Institute takes its name from a core Islamic concept: Amana, the trust and ethical responsibility Allah (SWT) has placed on us as Muslims. That trust sits at the centre of everything we do. It is our responsibility to instill in Muslim youth the values and skills that will help them succeed. Our approach to leadership is built on six principles: Suhba (companionship), Khidma (service), Shura (consultation), Tazkiya and Tadarruj (inner and gradual development), and Adl (justice). Guided by these, Amana Institute's mission is to develop principled leaders grounded in Islamic values and equip individuals and organizations to lead with character, competence, courage, and accountability. The Summit is the first expression of that mission in action — and your sponsorship is one of the first investments in building it.

Your sponsorship is what makes it possible! Why sponsor: ticket prices are deliberately kept low ($25 for youth) so no family is priced out. Sponsorship is not a bonus on this budget — it is what lets the youth ticket stay at $25 and makes the Summit accessible for families of all backgrounds and organizations with varying budgets.

Meet the Co-Founders

Samya Hasan has served as Executive Director of the Council of Agencies Serving South Asians (CASSA) since 2017, providing strategic leadership on anti-racism, health equity, civic engagement, and systems-change initiatives affecting South Asian and other racialized communities across Canada. She holds a Master of Public Policy and a Bachelor of Arts in Sociology and Political Science from the University of Toronto, along with a second Master's degree in Islamic Studies focused on leadership, mentorship, and capacity-building for young Muslim girls in Canada — research closely aligned with the Summit's focus on youth leadership. She was recognized by Toronto Metropolitan University in 2020 as a “Democracy Superhero” and was a CivicAction DiverCity Fellow for 2020–2021.

Tarak Ahmed is a clinical leader, educator, and psychotherapist with fifteen years of experience across children's treatment, hospital and community mental health, post-secondary counselling, and the provincial public service. He has held management roles in several of these settings and currently serves as a Clinical Manager at Grandview Kids, Durham Region's Children's Treatment Centre. He holds a Master of Social Work and a Master of Business Administration; this pairing shapes his leadership approach: clinically grounded and operationally disciplined. He teaches part-time as a professor at Durham College and Centennial College and runs a private psychotherapy practice in Ajax.

Together, Samya and Tarak bring combined clinical, academic, and management expertise to Amana Institute — the foundation this Summit, and its sponsors, are helping build on.

How This Works

— One page, one price, one deadline — sponsorship commitments are due by October 31, 2026 so your name appears in the printed programme.

— Every sponsorship, at any level, includes recognition in the Summit report shared with attendees and partner organizations afterward.

— All sponsors will be included in the concluding Duaa at the Summit.

— Amana Institute is a newly established organization and is not yet able to issue a charitable donation tax receipt. Your sponsorship is still a deductible business promotion expense — please confirm the specifics with your accountant.

Prefer a smaller commitment, or a physical presence without a full sponsorship? Ask us about the Vendor & Booking Package — display tables and hallway banners start at $100.
